ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the writing of this series of articles about the armaments of the troops of the Royal Household I have counted with a group of friends who have always made my works possible by sharing their knowledge and making available photographs of specimens of interest; During this writing the passing of two of these friends has filled me with consternation and sadness.

I specially wish to thank for their collaboration, Manolo Patiño (RIP), Eduardo Giménez Sanchez-Malo (RIP), Robert E. Brooker Jr, Juan Garcés, Eduardo Gorostiza, Carlos Baquerin, Daniel Abarca, Andrés Barnés, Victor Krenn, Jorge Parés, Manuel González, German Dueñas, Artemio Mortera, Juanjo Pérez, Alonso and Carlos Rodríguez Diaz, Lluc Sala, and Hector J. Meruelo for his translation to English.

If, as I hope, this work should deserve the interest of its readers, thanks are due equally to my collaborators without whose assistance it would not have come to fruition.
